

on ^{Creston} yesterday.
I shall not write again this week, but next-week

regards ^{to} ~~you~~ ^{Theroddy} Alas
I am your brother
E. Ch. Watson,
May 3rd 1891

I will write a few lines to let you know that I arrived safely in Stockton at 7.15 this morning and found that Frank had been waiting at the wharf for me for more than an hour. When I reached the boat in S. L. I got a room and went in to it and did not come out again till morning. The boat did not start till nearly 8 o'clock on account of having a large cargo to unload in the morning and another large one to load in the evening, but I did not care for that-for I was resting on the bed. I found every thing all right-at-home and of course they wanted to know why I did not-stay longer. Almost the first-thing Frank had to say was to tell me how your father had been braying about his cooking, said he could beat-me-at-any thing. All the same they said Fred came in one night for his supper, sat-down and looked around in disgust, and ~~and~~ asked when Ma was coming home. Have not-seen Aunt or George but-they say George was out
